Ottawa, May 16. — With the budget debate a thing of the past parliament to-day proceeded with the budget resolutions, a less interesting but very necessary routine. Compared with the dashing and spectacular debate, the sittings to-day were drab and uninteresting. It was the luli after the storm.

Hon. Charles Dunning, Minister of Finance, yesterday saw the stamp of approval placed by parliament on his first budget. By a vote of 114 to 86—a majority of 28—the House of Commons passed the Liberal Government's 1930 budget. Prior to that division the house voted down the U.F.A. sub-amendment by 158 of a majority. The vote stood, for, 19; against, 177. The same fate met an amendment moved by Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, the government majority being 60. The vote was registered, for, 64; against, 124.

THREE CONSERVATIVES

One of the features of the division was that three Conservatives supported the budget. They were, T. E. Simpson, (Algoma. West); Dr. L. W. Johnstone, (Cape Breton North Victoria); and Pin 1sy MacDonald, (Cape Breton South). Dr. Johnstone, did not register his vote because he was paired but in a short speech decisired he supported the budget. The two others voted. L. H. Jelliff (Progressive, Lethbridge) was the only member of his party who supported the budget. With that exception, the "ginger group" composed of United Parmers of Alberta, Progressives and Labor opposed the government.

CANADA'S TEAM

Philadelphia, May 16. — The dynamic United States doubles combination of Johnny Van Ryn of East Orange, N.J., and Wilmer Allison of Austin, Texas, crushed Dr. Jack Wright and Willard Crocker of Montreal in straight sets, 6-0, 6-4, 6-2, after Van Ryn and George Lott of Chicago had turned in Victories in singles in the Davis Cup tennis matches loday. This gave the United States the necessary three matches out of five, and the remaining two singles to-morrow cannot affect the result.

Canadian Press

Philadelphia, Pa., May 16.—The United States took a 2-0 lead over Canada in their Davis Cup tie to-day when George Lott, of Chicago, defeated Marcel Bainville, Montreal, 6-2, 6-2, 8-6, after Johnny Van Ryn had beaten Dr. Jack Wright, the Canadian captain, 6-2, 6-2, 3-6, 6-2.

Apparently nervous. Rainville lost the first three games before he couldget his feet on the ground. Then, however, he began to overhaul Lott. The Chicago youth steaded in the later games of the set and had the advantage in the exciting give and take at short range.

THE BUDGET VOTE

IN THE LIGHT OF THE VOTE ON THE budget the King government will emerge from the last session of the present Parliament with its forces intact and its prestige enhanced. The country as a whole obviously is well satisfied with the proposals which now have been approved. Mr. Dunning has shown himself to be as efficient in his new office as he has been in the others he has filled in both provincial and federal fields.

The outstanding feature of the budget is its combination of aid to Canadian industry and new inducements for the further development of trade between this country and Great Britain. The prospect of a loss of some business as a result of the tariff proposals now under consideration at Washington has made it desirable to consider our own interests from an entirely new standpoint, Briefly put, Mr. Dunning's budget is designed to extend advantages to those countries that buy as freely from us as we buy from them, and to cut down our purchases where we have countries that buy as freely from us as we buy from them, and to cut down our purchases where we have had the worst of the bargain.

The Minister of Finance who can perform miracles is not yet born. There is no mystic spring from which money flows at the touch of a wand. But there is in the financial policy which the King government has persistently followed, and we may be sure will continue to follow, a due regard for the benefit of the people as a whole. This is a vital policy.

We must remember the debt of the country is still large. Our war finance is a troublesome factor. Mr. Dunning has to find nearly $160,000,000 to meet the interest and other charges attributable solely to Canada's part in the great conflict. These to meet the interest and other charges attributable solely to Canada's part in the great conflict. These latter include war pensions, treatment and care of returned soldiers, soldiers' land settlement, imperial war graves commission, battlefield memorials and adjustment of war claims. Altogether the total of interest and other charges under this heading accounts for 39.42 cents out of every dollar the country collects. In fact this item of $160,000,000 represents approximately half the country's whole debt before the war—then standing at $339,000,000, and now at $2,250,000,000. Happily, however, something like $273,000,000 has been paid off the national debt in the last seven years.

like $273,000,000 has been paid off the national debt in the last seven years.

Although Mr. Duming has not performed a miracle, therefore, he has produced a budget which should hearten Canadians. In it there is new incentive to greater efforts on their own behalf and practical encouragement towards the desired end of a much closer commercial relationship between Canada and Great Britain and other parts of the Britainic Commonwealth. These features naturally have helped to make the budget popular with the Canadian people as a whole.

AN AUDITORIUM NEEDED

THE NECESSITY OF HAVING TO USE two churches for the musical festival last week emphasized in a most striking manner the need of an auditorium in this city that would provide adequate accommodation for the many events which take place ere from time to time.

Lack of adequate facilities in this regard prevents Victoria from bidding for the large conventions which she might otherwise do if she could guarantee sufficient accommodation. A good deal of business and considerable useful advertising will be lost to us until we make good this serious defect.

The suggestion advanced some time ago was that the sort of auditorium Victoria requires is one that will combine a meeting place with a skating rink.

will combine a meeting place with a skating rink. Experts in the business contend that such a structure, insuring use in both summer and winter, could be made well to interest themselves. It would be a pity if next year the promoters of the musical festival are handicapped for accommodation as they were last week. The 1931 event, moreover, is practically certain to be on a still bigger scale than this year.

THE ST. LAWRENCE PROJECT

ALTHOUGH LEGISLATION HAS BEEN passed at Washington authorizing the United States government to take over the Eric and Oswego canals from New York state—a matter of vital concern to Canada—a number of influential newspapers in the republic are discouraging the suggestion that these waterways be developed to provide an all-American route from the Great Lakes to the coast, since they contend the logical proposal is the deepening of the St. Lawrence as a joint undertaking by this country and the United States. The Washington Post observes in part: Post observes in part:

Public opinion, except in New York, is over-whelmingly in favor of development of the St. Lawrence sea-way in co-operation with Canada. Engineers who have studied the two projects are almost unanimously in favor of the St. Lawrence oute. It has the endorsement of President Hoover, and is ardently supported by the great agricultural interests of the Northwest. The best interests of the country demand a new sea outlet for the Great Lakes region, rather than another waterway that would congest traffic in the bottleneck of the Hud-son River and New York City.

Whatever opposition may develop in the United States to an all-American waterway to the sea, the point for Canadians to remember is that our neighbor will insist upon an outlet of some sort. If she is not able to come to an arrangement with this country with respect to the St. Lawrence, she will praceed with her own scheme.

In the event of failure to agree upon the inter-national undertaking, Canada would suffer a serious economic loss. It would mean that most of the enor-mous traffic of the Great Lakes would pass to the seaboard through the canal system connecting with the Hudson River. Both Canadian and American grain shippers would use this route.

In any discussion of this subject, moreover, it should be borne in mind that recent events prove that Canada cannot continue to increase her annual yield of wheat unless she may be assured of markets. Her capacity to sell in these markets—generally guaranteed by the high quality of our wheat—will be governed more and more by the cost of transportation. The principal factor in the St. Lawrence plan, of course, is the promise of lower handling and shipping costs.

In some quarters in Canada, it will be recalled, the suggestion has been advanced that this should be an all-Canadian project. This is entirely out of the question. The St. Lawrence is an international waterway and part of the navigable channel is on the United States side. Obviously, therefore, the work must be carried out by joint action.

The period covered is 1913-1928 and it shows that all the Dominions did well; but in the case of Canada, figures far above the average are recorded. Exports, for instance, have increased 105 per cent, compared with a world growth of only 18 per cent. A table showing the percentage changes since 1913 is as follows (1913: 100):

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE NAVAL DISAGREEMENT The New York Times

We need not take too seriously the stories of an international situation changed for the worse as the result of disappointments and humiliations at the Conference. There have been no such wounds inflicted. The very fact that there has been failure to agree upon several questions of importance is proof that no nation at the Conference has been the victim of coercion.

NO PANACEA The New York Sun

Some farmers who a year ago were appealing for relief are now appealing to be relieved from the form in which Federal relief is being administered. Some of them declare that the Farm Board is all wrong in moving to reduce acreage of crops periodically subject to surpluses. Apparently these complainants are willing to accept all the aid taxpaying consumers can be required to furnish, but, since it involves temporary sacrifices on their part, are unwilling to do the one thing best calculated to remedy evils that afflict them.

The Edmonton Journal

The Canadian National Railways is putting on a new passenger express service between Montreal and Toronto, cutting the time between these cities to six hours. It is claimed this will be the faster service in the world for the distance, 334 miles in 360 minutes. It does best that of the Flying Scotsman, the famous British train, which travels 392 miles in 483 minutes. The average speed of the new C.N.R. trains will be about fifty-six miles per hour. There are several French and German trains whose schedule calls for speeds ranging between fifty and sixty miles per hour. Even if the C.N.R. Montreal-Toronto run is not the fastest regular schedule in the world, it is very near that mark and certainly is about as fast as anyone can reasonably wish in railway travel.

Only by developing the linest colling stock, building high speed locomotives and, above all, keeping the roadbed in perfect condition, can such speed be maintained. It is another feather in the cap for the publicly-owned railway of Canada.

A THOUGHT

Loose Ends

A horse is seen within our city — provoking philosophic but harmless speculation — nature does the job best — and the doctors show a strange ignorance of women.

By H. B. W.

ON FORT STREET to-day you could have seen a sight which, in a thoughtful mind, would provice thoughts which would lie too deep for tears but which, in the minds of most passersby, provoked nothing at all. This sight was a black horse standing in a motor truck, which was being used to transport him through the city, for his progress on foot, I suppose, would have been too slow for this efficient age. He was a noble animal and as he was pulled through the atreets in this humilisting fashlon one thought of foreign prisoners being led in triumph through ancient Rome to make a Roman holiday. It reminded me especially of that British warrior, Caractus, whose bearing in the Roman procession was so proud and courageous that the Emperor, in a fit of admiration, pardoned him and sent him home to Britain. This horse looked out of his truck upon the swarms of automobiles with undimmed spirit and proud eye, as if to say, with the exiled duke in "As You Like It," "Roll on, you fat and greasy citizens. My time will yet return. When your machines break down you will want me back again." And so, unbroken by the machine age, undaunted even by his imprisonment in a machine, the horse was carried through the traffic, where once he walked with honor among equals.

WHO KNOWS but that the horse is right? When we have drained the last gallon of oil out of the ground; and extracted the last kilowatt of electricity from our rivers and there is none left, then, perhaps, the horse will return triumphantly. Which, indeed, would confirm a theory, long held by a more intelligent school of historians, namely, that we merely move in cycles, never entirely forward. Thus students of such things assure us that in prehistoric Indis and Persia they not only had vehicles which traveled under their own power like our automobiles, but aeroplanes as well, which moved under a mysterious force which may even have been the unleashed energy of the atom. And on the lost continent of Atlantis it is said there flourished a civilization far more advanced and complicated than our own. But all these things declined and man went back again to the hospital, but it is undoubtedly true. Women, if properly attended, stand a far greater chance of surviving the ordeal of childbirth in their own homes than if they enter maternity homes and hospitals. The average woman who can afford it makes a mistake in rushing into a maternity home or hospital when she is about to be confined. If she is a normal healthy person this is the worst thing. one of the worst alum areas in Birmingham," and goes on to stress the absolute necessity of pre-natal care. On these matters this column, of course, has enough sense to have no opinions; but it cannot escape anyone's attention that the British Medical Association seems to have found, to its amazement, that in these vital matters nature still seems to be able to do things best in her own way. To a generation which is rapidly losing faith in nature altogether and putting faith instead in its own sagacity, these revelations should be rather encouraging.

THE CASE of Allyn King, famous atage beauty, who lived for a year on butterless toast, orange juice, fruit and salad and then leaped to her death from a window because she could not grow slender, has unloosed a flood of warnings from British medical men against the semi-starvation of modern women. The craze for alimness and the telephone-pole figure, these experts declare, is threatening to undermine the health of the world in present generations and future generations as well. All this is very true, but it shows that the medical experts, though they may know all about health, know little or nothing about women. There is no use telling women that it is unhealthy and dangerous to be too slim. That will never persuate them to give up diet. The only hope of reform is to get some authority on fashion to declare that it is fashionable to be stout if you can make health stylish and not merely same you will have some chance of encourages it. Indeed, it.

The annual meeting of the management of the Aged and Infirm Women's Home was held last evening at the home.

Officials of the Victoria Professional Baseball Club have reached the conclusion that the Oak Bay grounds are too far from the city to insure large attendance on any day of the week except Saturday.

The action of the City Council in refusing to grant the full proportion asked by the school board for education expenditures during the year 1905 has roused the indignation of some of the trustees.

It is reported that beginning June 1, the steamer Whatcom will change her schedule so as to run Sundays and lay off Mondays. On the date mentioned and continuing through the summer, the steamer will leave Victoria at 3 o'clock instead of at 7.30 as at present.

Strong Delegation to Attend Empire Commerce Chamber Convention

Canadian Press

Montreal, May 16.—En route to London, where from May 26 to 31 Empire trade problems will be threshed out by the Pederated Chambers of Commerce of the Empire, a strong delegation of the Empire, a strong delegation of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce sailed from Montreal today on the Sa. Duchess of York.

The Canadians took with the Empire trade committee of the Canadian chamber for submission to the London sessions. Matters touched upon in the resolutions include recommendations that an appointment be made of a commission to inquire into Empire resources, markets and factors entering into the promotion or hindrance of Empire trade; and that this commission, having made its report to the various governments of the Empire, be maintained as a permanent advisory economic council of Empire to meet from time to time and have executive offices in connection with

Extra value without extra cost

THE LOW PRICE of the Ford is not due to lowered quality of construction or materials, but to the efficiency and economy of Ford production methods. The following list reveals many instances of the extra value built into the Ford car.

Choice of attractive colors. New streamline bodies. Adjustable front seats in closed bodies. Fully enclosed, silent four-wheel brakes. Four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers. Bright, enduring Rustless Steel for many exterior metal parts. Chrome silicon alloy valves. Aluminum pistons. Chrome alloy transmission gears and shafts. Torque-tube drive. Three-quarter floating rear axle. Extensive use of fine steel forgings. More than twenty ball and roller bearings. Shatterless glass windshield. Five steel-spoke wheels. 55 to 65 miles an hour. Quick acceleration. Ease of control. Low first cost. Economy of operation. Reliability and long life. Good dealer service.

Louisville, Ky., May 16.—Color and pageantry of the greatest horse racing classic in the United States taking definite hue and form to-day for the fifty-sixth running of the Kentucky Derby, centres about two decidedly contrasting figures of the turf—the English Earl of Derby and the freekle-faced Yankee Earl of Sande.

Sande After Third Is Favorite to Win Kentucky Derby Eastern Ball Teams

To-morrow he will occupy a post of honor at the "Darby." A civic holiday had been declared in his honor, and an opportunity arranged for him to broadcast impressions of the race over an international radio "book-up."

The Earl of Sande is no such stranger to the court of the laurels of Derby victory. Twice before in 1923 and 1925, Sande has booted home winners in Kentucky's classic. To-morrow he has the chance to cap the climax of a dramatic comeback by riding home a winner on Gallant Fox, black son of Sir Gallahad III. Up-island Lakes Is Reported Good

Andrew Carnegie

ASKED to explain his phenomenal success, Andrew Carnegie blandly attributed it to his ability to get men to work for him who knew more than he did.

And that's a formula for success. Nobody who is really successful does all the work himself. He employs other people's minds and efforts.

Do you do the same in the intricate business of running your home and taking care of your family? You can, quite easily.

You can employ specialists in diet; you can serve the master dishes of famous chefs; you can have the advice of style authorities in selecting your clothes, of whole electrical laboratories in buying household appliances, by reading the advertisements.

All the newest knowledge—knowledge millions of dollars and years of effort have won_is contained in the advertisements.

If you will use the advertisements in this newspaper as Andrew Carnegie used men who knew more than he did, every dollar you spend will be spent wisely, economically, and will return full measure of satisfaction. That's the way to be a success in the greatest business in the world-making a home.

It Pays to Read the Advertisements

Sum of $1,795 Is Given Mrs. Margaret Grossman in Action Against C.P.R.

Special Jury Holds That Both Parties Contributed to the Accident

Accident

Judgment for $1,795 was awarded by a special jury in the action of Mrs. Margaret J. Grossman against the Canadlan Pacific Railway in the Supreme Court this afternoon, at the close of the trial in which the plaintiff claimed $50,000 damages and $3,500 special damages for injuries received in a fall from an outside staircase at the Empress Hotel grounds.
The jury, in answering a list of stated questions, held that the plaintiff and defendant had contributed equally to any negligence entering into the accident. They assessed the special damages at $441.75 and general damages at $3,250.
Mr. Justice Pisher ordered judgment for the plaintiff in half the sum of the total damages assessed Argument on costs was left open to council, to

French Ambassador Notes Tenor of Italian Premier's Speech of Defiance

Rome, May 16.—Maurice de Beaumarchais, the French ambassador, today called on Foreign Minister Difo. Grandi at the Chigi Palace and protested unofficially against the tenor of a speech delivered last Sunday at Leghorn by Fremler Mussolini.

The Pascist Premier said in his address to 55,000 subjects that "if our frontiers were threatened, these would be gathered one human mass—nay, a thunderbott—launched against any and all comers." The Duce declared, recalling that Sunday was the anniversary of Leghorn's battle with the Austrians. "There is something unescapeable, in-evitable, in this march toward the destiny of Fascist Utily and reposity.

WITH ALL THE BLOOK

Many suffer from nervous exhaustion and pay heavily for its curing, and yet have never given a thought to the latest Inner Spring Mattress that fits the body, allows the spine to lie straight and gives the nerve centre the relaxation it needs.

This Inner Spring Mattress is also ventilated. What an improvement to the old body-odor-soaked felt mattress that probably has been used for ten or fifteen years without renovating. Nature demands one-third of your life in sleep to do justice to the remaining two-thirds. If you want to be brighter, stronger, happier and more healthy, then sleep correctly and healthy. You will notice the difference of one week's perfect sleep.

marry for love, or an establishment age of convenience bring a woman n ast I am continually asked by girls and, being incurably sentimental myoff, I invariably answer:

Marry for love, Perhaps your heart any betray you. Perhaps your Prince harming will lose his allure for you hen once the cloak of romance has ropped from his shoulders. Perhaps our great lover will make a grouchy, umb husband. Perhaps he will even a unfaithful to you. Perhaps your will overly and shabbiness and hard work, erhaps you will regret the flesh pots.

Nevertheless, marry for love, for Nevertheless, marry for love, for you will have had something of which life cannot rob you. You will have had your great hour.

You will have known the rapture and the glory and the circling wings. Better fifty years of Europe than a cycle of Cathay. Better to have feasted royally once, even if the cakes and ale proved indigestible, than to go through life on a skimmed-milk diet, without flavor or taste, because it is good for the stomach and affords enough nourishment to keep one alive.

views, however, are flatly contradicted by that of a famous woman who, in a recent magazine article, urges women to marry for conce and not for love. "Love is unimportant," she says, "Food is important. Shelter is important. Children are important. Order and a sense of security are important, but not love. I married for love and wasted the best years of my life in trying to make my marriage a success. I married again for convenience and I have been rewarded with all the joys of life.

"In my first marriage I loved and my husband betrayed my love. In this second marriage of convenience I do not expect adoration. I do not expect romantic love and for the first time I am able to look at the world with eyes that are not harried with suffering. I am valued for what I am, a wife, a mother, the partner of a man respected in the community. Now I know that where there is a genuine respect, a mutuality of interest and purpose, as there is between us and children, marriage is bound to last."

Undoubtedly, where a man and woman enter into marriage as they would go into a business transaction, it is much more likely to endure than it is when it is contracted on a purely emotional basis. That is amply proved by the fact that America, in which practically every match is a love match, leads the world in the number of its divorces, while in Continental Europe, where parents mostly select their children's wives and husbands, and marriages are arranged on the grounds of suitability and to promote financial or social interests, divorces are comparatively rare.

There are many reasons why the marriage of convenience should have a better chance of lasting than the marriage of love. The first is, of course, that when you look at a man or woman with hard-boiled eyes instead of love-blinded ones you are probably a better picker of what you really need in a mate. Secondly, the conventional marriage has not the emotional atrees that the love match has, nor do those who enter into it demand so much of those to whom they are married. And, thirdly, it is a guard and a shield to one's heart, because those we do not love cannot tear our hearts to tatters. They can only annoy us.

The woman who has married a man for what he can give her is satisfied with her house, her car, her fine clothes, her position in society, and she has no idea of throwing up her soft job. If she has married a man whom she respects, she neither expects nor desires him to be an ardent lover, and she doesn't badger him about a thousand things that the devoted wife nags her husband about, such as keeping his feet dry and watching out for automobiles and coming home on time.

Nor does the man who has married a girl because she had money, or her father had a pull that would advance his interests, or because she was a good domestic girl and he wanted to settle down, torture himself with jealousy over every man who comes about her. All he asks is not to be bothered and to be made comfortable.

Undoubtedly, a marriage of reason, in which a man and woman who have congenial tastes and mutual interests pool their assets because they believe they can make a bigger success of life together than apart, may be made a very placid and stable arrangement, but it can only be made a success if both husband and wife shut their eyes to the shadowy romance that hovers in the background,

For the human heart, especially when it is young and hungry, must have something to feed upon besides the dry husks of respect and friendship. It must have something warm, vital; something that has life and death in it, and if it does not find this at home it will seek it elsewhere.

It takes love to make toil a pleasure; to make heavy burdens light; to make ascrifice sweet; to make even a beloved one's faults and peculiarities dear and precious because they are his or hers. It takes love to endure all things, hope all things and forgive all things.

And so I say marry for love. It is the only thing that makes it worth tite. With love marriage becomes a heaven on earth. Without it, it cinders, ashes and dust.

Barbara Stanwyck, star of "Mexical Rose," the Columbia all-taiking drams of love and revenge now showing at the Playhouse Theatre has discovered a method of avoiding a shiny nose. "The continuous application of the powder puff," says Miss Stanwyck, "only stimulates the oil glands. A better method is not to cold-cream the nose that is ahiny, but to use an astringent as a powder base. I recommend eau de cologne. If you follow this procedure you will be able to keep your nose tree from reduces and shine regardless of the weather."

Hollywood. In a recent survey of screen directorial headliners, James Cruze led the field, with many points to spere. And, to judge from his first falking pictures. "The Great Gabbo." which comes to the Playhouse Theatre next week, it appears that James Cruze will triumph again.
"The Great Gabbo." as one reviewer describes it, is a screen symphony of life, movement and melody. It is also Erich von Stroheim's first appearance in a talking picture. Betty Compson always a favorite in this city, is the feminine lead in this remarkable picture.
